DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 7, 23, 29 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Appropriate correction is required.

Regarding claim 7, line 3, the term "the specified threshold value" should be changed to --a specified threshold value--, otherwise, in line 2, the term "claim 2" should be changed to --claim 6--.

Regarding claim 23, lines 2-3, the term "the specified threshold value" should be changed to --a specified threshold value--, otherwise, in line 2, the term "claim 18" should be changed to --claim 22--.

Regarding claim 29, lines 2-3, the term "the specified threshold value" should be changed to --a specified threshold value--, otherwise, in line 2, the term "claim 19" should be changed to --claim 28--.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-6, 8-22, 24-28, 30-32 are allowed.
3. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: none of the prior art of the record discloses or suggests a code synchronous determining method and apparatus, comprising: scanning the stored correlation values in a given direction to detect at least one minimal correlation valued to register a retrieved minimal timing corresponding to the detection minimal correlation value; extracting at least one correlation value selected from the correlation values stored at plural timings having a specified time interval from the maximal timing to the minimal timing as a high correlation value candidate as recited in claims 1-17; steps of comparing each correlation value stored in the forward and back directions from the maximal timing with a predetermined value; registering a timing when the associated correlation value is detected to be less than a minimum correlation valued as the minimal timing; extracting at least one high correlation value from the correlation values obtained in the every specified time interval from maximal timing till the minimal timing; and registering a timing data corresponding to the extracted high correlation value as candidate timing data for code synchronism as recited in claim 15; a code synchronous determining device configured to determine plural code synchronous timing candidates by reading the correlation values stored in the storage device, the code synchronous timing determining device including a time width designating unit configured to designate a limit number of correlation values data of the correlation values stored in the storage device, and candidate extracting unit configured to extract high correlation values as code synchronous timing candidates from the limit number of correlation values designated by the time width designating unit as recited in claim 31; and the scanning element including: a holding circuit having a number of data holding stages configured to hold timing information at the plural timings in a time sequence order acquired in relation to the correlation values, the number of the data holding stages being defined to correspond to a limit number of correlation valued data of the correlation values stored in the storage circuit; registering circuit configured to retrieve a timing corresponding to a correlation value having at least one maximal value from the information at the plural timings held in the holding circuit; to register the timings as minimal timing; and candidate extracting unit configured to extract high correlation values as code synchronous timing candidate from the limit number of correlation values held in the holding circuit as recited claim 32.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Shou et al (U.S. Pat. 5,974,038) disclose a receiver for CDMA communication system.

Sato (U.S. Pat. 6,188,679) discloses a CDMA chip synchronization circuit.

Zhou et al (U.S. Pat. 6,252,899) disclose a complex despreading system.

5. This application is in condition for allowance except for the following formal matters as indicated above.

Prosecution on the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire TWO MONTHS from the mailing date of this letter.

6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to KHAI TRAN whose telephone number is (571) 272-3019. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:00AM - 4:30PM.
